King George Takes Special Precautions to Escape New Outrages by Militants.

AMERICANS PRESENT.

J. De Rothschild's Broadwood, at 20 to 1, Wins the Classic Turf Event.

ASCOT, June 16 .- Never before have such precautions been taken to guard members of the royal family from the attentions of the London "furies" as were taken to-day at the Ascot race course. The opening of the leading society race meeting found upward of 1,000 men of the metropolitan police and hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard as- Cobb, cf. ients for the regular Berk- Veach, if. shire County police force which had Kavanaugh, 2b .... 0 been mobilised in full strength to Burns, 1b. prevent any attempt by the suffra- Stanage, c. and Queen Mary.

In consequence of this resolute attitude of the women the arrangements for guarding the entrance to the royal inclosure on the racecourse were on this occasion made more stringent than ever, and every person before being able to secure a ticket had to be vouched for by some responsible official.

The track also was closely guarded to prevent a recurrence of last year's sensational incident, when August Belmont's Tracery was interfered with and thrown by a mad man while MONTREAL he was leading for the race for the Ascot Gold Cup, on the third day of the meeting. Triple rails have been erected along the track and for several days past throughout the day and night men, accompanied by watchdogs, have patrolled the course, while slarm guns have been placed in position at night around the stands and

A large contingent of resident Americans were among those invited to the royal enclosure. These inluded Walter Hines Page, the American Ambassador and Mrs. Page, with the members of the Embassy staff; Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Philip J. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius

Before the play had been on four minutes they had two goals to their credit, Cheape driving the ball through first on the opening rush, and the second goal was scored almost before the crowd of 40,000 spectators had recovered their breath.

The visiting team was cheered vociferously as the game progressed. To-day's game meant more to the Americans than it did to the English. Victory gave the Americans a chance in the play-off on Saturday. Victory to-day gave the English team the cup.

This was the lineup! AMERICA. No. 1—Rene La Montagne. No. 2—J. M. Waterbury. No. 3—Larry Waterbury.

FIRST PERIOD.

At a quarter past four the English ponies began their circuit of the field in a long lingering string. This is a polo custom, and kills a lot of time. Time is no object in polo. "Twentysix English ponies in parade" an-nounced the megaphone man. While ried the ball down the length of the six English ponies in parade" anthis thrilling statement was sinking field and Barrett sent it between the in. and hit a goal post. White willow spheres were flying all about. The waiting time was nearly up. The officials took position. The rival teams came slowly out to play. The crowd, fully as big as Saturday's, sat in tense silence waiting. The Americans won the toss and took the north goal. For a mos the play was all done in the English end of the field. Then Cheaps got the ball out and started with it up the field. A long, scrambling rush carried it within fifty feet of the English goal. Here Tomkinson caught Cheape, who drove it lightly into the centre of goal space. Milburn came swing at the ball when it was only a foot or two from the goal line. He missed and the ball rolled over. Re-

England had scored two goals in three minutes and seventeen seconds, nearly as quickly as in the opening of the first game. Stung by this the Americans rallied and for a minute or two kept the ball within afteen yards of the English goal. Milburn and La Montagne each missed good tries by a foot. From that time on the play was distributed equally over both ends of the field. End of period. Score-England, 3;
